5. DO WE USE COOKIES AND OTHER TRACKING TECHNOLOGIES?

In Short, We may use cookies and other tracking technologies to collect and store your information.

Cookies and Similar Technologies:

“Cookies” are pieces of information that a service may place on your computer to facilitate and enhance your communication and interaction with that service. Many services use cookies for these purposes. We may use cookies (and similar items such as clear gifs, web beacons, tags, etc.) on our Service to customize your visit and for other purposes to make your visit more convenient or to enable us to enhance our Service. We may also use and place cookies (and similar items) on your computer from our third-party service providers in connection with the Service, such as an analytics provider that helps us manage and analyze Service usage, as described more fully below. In addition, our advertisers and business partners may set cookies and similar items on your computer when you use our Service. You may stop or restrict the placement of cookies on your computer or flush them from your browser by adjusting your web browser preferences, in which case you may still use our Service. Still, it may interfere with some of its functionality. We do not use Cookies and similar items to automatically retrieve personally identifiable information from your computer without your knowledge.

If you delete your cookies, change browsers, or use a different cookie, our cookie (or an opt-out cookie) may no longer work, and you will have to reinput (or opt-out) again.

Automatically Collected Information:

When you access the Service or open one of our HTML emails, we may automatically record certain information from your system using cookies and other tracking technologies. This “automatically collected” information may include Internet Protocol address (“IP Address”), a unique user ID, device type, device identifiers, browser types and language, referring and exit pages, platform type, version of software installed, system type, the content and pages that you access on the Service, the number of clicks, the amount of time spent on pages, the dates and times that you visit the Service, and other similar information. Depending on the law of your country of residence, your IP address may legally be considered personally identifiable information.

Analytics and Conversion Tracking:

We use analytics services that use cookies, javascript, and similar technologies to help us analyze how users use the Service. The information generated by these services about your use of the Service (including your IP address or a truncated version of your IP address) is transmitted to and stored by analytics service providers on their servers. Those service providers will use this information to evaluate your and other users' use of the Service, compile reports for us on website activity, and provide other services relating to website activity and Internet usage.

We may collect information about your computer, including your IP address, operating system, and browser type, for system administration and to create reports. This is statistical data about our users' browsing actions and patterns and does not identify any individual.

We use cookies on our site for Google Analytics. Google Analytics is a web analytics tool that helps website owners understand how visitors engage with their Websites. Google Analytics customers can view a variety of reports about how visitors interact with their Website so that they can improve it.

Like many services, Google Analytics uses first-party cookies to track visitor interactions, as in our case, where they are used to collect information about how visitors use our site. We then use the information to compile reports and to help us improve our site.

Cookies contain information that is transferred to your computer's hard drive. These cookies are used to store information, such as when the current visit occurred, whether the visitor has been to the site before, and what site referred the visitor to the web page.

Google Analytics collects information anonymously. It reports website trends without identifying individual visitors. You can opt out of Google Analytics without affecting how you visit our site – For more information on opting out of being tracked by Google Analytics across all websites you use, visit <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.

We also use Google conversion tracking and/or similar services to help us understand your and other users' use of the Service.
